

NEXT MEETING

MONDAY, MARCH 29, 8:00 P.M.

St. Paul's Church, 2430 K St., N.W.

If population growth continues at the present rate, world population will double in 39 years — from  $3\frac{1}{2}$  billion to 7 billion. If you find this prospect more than slightly horrifying, come to the March FBA meeting and hear representatives from Zero Population Growth.

Guest speakers will be Leonard Lane,

ZPG lobbyist in Washington, and Richard Kroll, president of the D.C. chapter of ZPG.

Also scheduled is a brief, color film, "Children and Trees," which shows vividly and poignantly the price of progress, as a forest is destroyed for development.

POTOMAC SPRING

Go to Roosevelt Island's wild forest before leaves hide the intimate scenes and mute the bird sounds from marsh, treetop, and woodland floor.

Find yourself a camouflaging thicket to become a part of, and listen for, what was stilled by your coming. Fox have been known to roam the island, as well as raccoon and 'possum.

High up are patterns and sounds of waving branches. Birds make wing flashes of white against the sky, and below new green shoots pierce winter-matted leaf fall. If you are very still and patient there may be a stirring there.

ECUMENICAL PALM SUNDAY SERVICE AT CIRCLE

The fourth joint Palm Sunday service, at which members of the different Christian churches in the West End area will participate, will be held at the Washington Circle on April 4 at 10:00 A.M.

As in the past, the West End Laymen's Association is sponsoring this ecumenical worship service.

VISIT TO ROOSEVELT ISLAND

Let's take advantage of the fine spring weather and get some fresh air and exercise. The Foggy Bottom Association plans a trip to Roosevelt Island, complete with guided tour and commentary by a National Park Service ranger, on Sunday afternoon, April 18. Cars will leave from the parking lot behind St. Paul's Church at 1:15 P.M. . . . should return by 4:00 P.M. If you can provide transportation, or need a ride, call Leslie Wilder, 333-1459.

LAST MEETING

Four candidates for nonvoting delegate to Congress from the District of Columbia addressed the February meeting of the Foggy Bottom Association.

John Nevius, running on the Republican ticket, stated that if elected he would urge that Washington be allowed the full voting representation--two Congressmen and two Senators--to which it is entitled based on comparison of its population with that of the 50 states.

Dr. Franklin Kameny, identifying himself as the first publicly declared homosexual ever to run for Congress, presented a platform calling for freedom from government snooping into private lives, an end to employment discrimination against minorities, immediate withdrawal from Viet Nam, and vigorous enforcement of consumer protection laws.

Julius Hobson, running as D.C. Statehood Party candidate, announced he has a suit now challenging in court the lack of voting power of the D.C. delegate to Congress. He promised, if elected, to follow up with other attempts to obtain full Constitutional rights for D.C. citizens, citing the success of his Hobson vs. Hansen suit.

Walter Fauntroy, Democratic candidate for Congress, cited his experience as former vice chairman of the D.C. City Council, president of Model Inner City Community Organization, Inc., founder of the D.C. Coalition of Conscience, and other positions as giving him an awareness of the specific problems of the District of Columbia and experience in working for solutions.

In a business meeting, the membership present passed a resolution relative to the George Washington University parking garage to be constructed at 22nd and H Streets, to be presented by Civic Affairs Chair man William Buchanan at the March 3 hearings conducted by the Zoning Commission of the National Capital Planning Commission.

The resolution is as follows:

"The Foggy Bottom Association finds itself in agreement with the basic George Washington University campus plan Phase I and recognizes the need for a library, medical school, faculty building and athletic building. We question the need, however, for additional parking facilities. Recent evidence of the effects of air pollution and the rising congestion in our area makes us question the wisdom of encouraging yet more cars to come into our area. The location of an 1,100 car parking garage on the northwest corner of 22nd and H Streets seems particularly unwise in light of the planned subway stop one-half block away.

"Resolved therefore that the appropriate agencies make the following studies before approving this parking garage:

"1. A study of presently available parking and future parking needs in the George Washington University area.

"2. A full-scale environmental impact study along the lines of Section 102 of the Environmental Quality Act of 1970 to determine the effects on the community of the increased automobile-generated pollution this facility will encourage.

"3. A thorough traffic study to indicate the carrying capacity of streets in the George Washington University area and the extent of congestion this parking facility will generate.

"4. A study of the economic impact of this parking facility in terms of reduced use of present and future (i.e., subway) public transportation facilities."

THE FOGGY BOTTOM PLAYGROUP: A PROGRESS REPORT

Although several members of the original group have "graduated" to nursery school or moved away, the Foggy Bottom Playgroup is thriving as never before. In order to accommodate the 20-plus children enrolled, the meetings have been expanded to five mornings a week, plus an afternoon session twice a week for the older set (3-5 year olds). St. Mary's Church is still our very hospitable host; we are indeed grateful for the continued use of its facilities.

A welcome addition to the indoor playthings is an outdoor swing set purchased by the playgroup. It does not take the place of the playground we feel is needed, but it does give the children a chance to catch a little sunshine on good-weather days. It really is a pleasure to go by St. Mary's any weekday morning and hear the happy sounds emanating from there. Anyone who would like to bring a child or just drop by for a visit is welcome.

THE FOGGY BOTTOM FARMER

May in Foggy Bottom will be "busting out all over" with roses, roses, roses--roses in the door-yards, roses on fences, and roses arching over door-ways. Also, they've come to the balconies, Watergate rooftop gardens, and the walled patios of Columbia Plaza. And now is the time to plant them.

A "tub within a tub" (or large pot) is one proven method of combating the heat and drying out of container soil that makes balcony gardening in Washington difficult. A lady who roof gardens at Watergate told us of her success with the two-container method of keeping the root area of her roses cool and moist. The space between the inner and outer tub was filled with sphagnum moss. Fiberglass or other building insulating material would do as well and perhaps be more permanent. We plan to try this system with a new tree rose from Jackson and Perkins. Look for the name--one of the best. Their tree roses include Irish Gold, a yellow; New Yorker, a red; John F. Kennedy, a white.

CONGRATULATIONS

to Father F. Everett Abbott of St. Mary's Church and his bride, the former Jean Chandler. An open house was held after the ceremony February 12 at St. John's Church at Lafayette Square. A wedding trip to the Caribbean followed.

A LOSS AND A GAIN FOR THE BOTTOM

We in the Bottom were fortunate in having the West End Branch Library built in our area and in having Mr. Raymond Elgin as librarian from the opening of the branch in 1967. He has responded to the varied and many requests of this community and we, in turn, have been frequent users of his services and those of his excellent staff. Mr. Elgin leaves the Bottom to become Assistant Coordinator of Service to Adults for the D.C. Library system. We shall still have his good services for he will help in selecting and developing collections of books, periodicals, films, etc., for the branches and the Central Library. And he remains a resident of the Bottom although his office will be at 499 Pennsylvania Ave. N.W.

Our new librarian, Mr. Laird J. Horrell, is another personable young man. He is an historian (modern European history), holds a degree in library science from Catholic University, did a two-year stint with the Army in Germany. Returning home he went with the D.C. Library. One of his interesting assignments was operating the bookmobile. For the last five years he has been on the staff of the History Division of the Central Library.

We bid good-by and best wishes to Ray Elgin and welcome Laird Horrell to our pleasant Foggy Bottom community.

NEIGHBORHOOD CARRY-OUT OPENS

The C&B Plaza Market on 25th Street has recently opened a carry-out food service in the back of the store.

I dropped in one sunny Saturday to investigate and ran into Mr. Curtis Walsh. Mr. Walsh and his wife, Betty, have owned the market for about a year, but the carry-out service is a new idea and appears to be quite successful.

Unfortunately, I was on a diet at the time of my visit so there were only a few items I could sample. However, I looked longingly at the meatball heroes and well-stuffed hoagies that were being prepared. There is also a large variety of pizza and delicious fried chicken.

Mr. Walsh suggested that customers call in their orders and then stop by to pick them up. This is a good idea as the store is small and it saves waiting time.

The carry-out service is great for a quick lunch and a good idea for an informal party.

WARNING! If you are on a diet exercise restraint; it will be hard!

Soupcor *

by Dorth Arnold

Since the U.S. House of Representatives belongs to all Americans, and since anyone who visits the restaurant there may receive the recipe for their famous bean soup, I will not be guilty of infringing on copyright if I give it to you.

In 1904 Speaker of the House Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois came into the House Restaurant and ordered bean soup. As it was a hot, humid day bean soup was not on the menu. The Speaker roared, "Thunderation, I had my mouth set for bean soup; from now on, hot or cold, rain, snow, or shine, I want it on the menu every day." It has been on the menu every single day since then.

Unlike Speaker Cannon, everyone wouldn't relish this hearty dish on a typically hot Washington day; but if you serve it at this time of the year, it will be a winner.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH OPENS NONSECTARIAN ADULT EDUCATION CENTER

Classes in typing, shorthand, office skills, beginner's math, intermediate reading and grammar, basic English, reading improvement, and high school equivalency begin on March 29 at the Immaculate Conception Academy on 24th and K Streets, as St. Stephen Martyr Church opens its nonsectarian Adult Education Center.

The tenth to be formed in the Washington Archdiocese, this new Center is a project of Father James Reddy and aims at providing assistance principally to low-income and welfare families, so that adults requiring such help may acquire skills that they could find useful in obtaining better jobs.

Students are not required to pay any tuition fee, and are welcome to join the courses even after they have started. The Center will be operated by volunteers--for teaching and office work as well as for such services as baby-sitting for adults who may not otherwise be able to attend these classes.

The spring session will run for six weeks. A six-week summer session will also be run; registration will be on June 14-15. The fall session will be 15 weeks long, and registration will be September 13-14. Classes will be held on Monday and Thursday evenings, from 7:30 to 9:30 P.M.

Appointed principal of the Center is Mrs. Moira Mathieson of Foggy Bottom. She is with the Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC) and is involved in research dealing with education.

Further information on the Center may be obtained from Mrs. Mathieson (Tel. 965-1944); Sister Mary Teresa, assistant principal (Tel. 333-4312); or Father Reddy (Tel. 333-5151).

PORNO IN FOGGY BOTTOM

Now that you've decided to read this sensational article and are into it 12 words, excuse us for the "yellow journalism" headline. Our topic is dogleavings--which we admit is stretching the meaning of pornography. We do not intend to be humorous or casual in treating this subject. It's become an intensely angry matter to many residents of this gentle neighborhood. You dog owners are being glared at, talked about, and complained about--and we think with good reason. We receive many calls and pleas to "do something" about the mess.

Sleepy-eyed dog walkers on cold days don't care where their dogs stop to relieve themselves. The idea is to get back to their own comfortable homes as quickly as possible. The idea is to block out the problems just caused to others in terms of mess, odor, even a fall or slip into the excrement. All these problems plus the expense to home owners who have planted grasses now spotted and burned.

And who are some of these self-centered owners? We know them and they include people who speak strongly against pollution, work hard for individual rights, and even some who take a personal pride in this specially lovely area. We cannot understand their behavior in relation to their own dogs.

This article and the letters to the editor (which we hope may include one or two from dog owners) prove just how upset and serious we are about motivating dog walkers to stop this "Street Pornography"--to stop this foul-smelling example of self-indulgence and community disregard.

One resident put up a "please curb" sign, which was promptly pulled down. We shall try more signs, we might even shout out of our windows at dog owners and begin to try other extreme methods to embarrass those who cannot change attitudes and will not change habits even when politely asked. We may even try to find laws that will help us stop this local filth accumulation.

And for those of you who have been too timid to speak to dog owners or have been afraid of being considered a dog-hater--we urge a new boldness, a new directness. YOU ARE IN THE RIGHT. Don't be intimidated by intellectual excuses for laziness. Get tough--after you've asked nicely. But let's get the dogs curbed and the streets cleaned by the dog owners. It's time.

A.S.

Good Neighbors

It was heartening to see one of Bon Wit Plaza Apartments' employees sweeping up the broken glass their trash collecting firm regularly leaves in front of their driveway on H Street. Thanks, and keep it up.

Beer-Can Alley is the name that should apply to the east side of 26th Street between K & L. Do the owners or lessors of the car park surrounded by the high rustic fence ever look at the appearance of their place from 26th Street? We hope they will--and, if they do, they will not allow an otherwise presentable property to take on the qualities of a town dump.

Now that the boundaries of the FBA have been extended, there is more territory to cover and it gives an opportunity to mention the neat and tidy appearance West End Branch Library maintains. Trash dropped or blown around outside the building, landscaping, and sidewalks is picked up and the walks themselves are swept. All Foggy Bottom thanks the library staff for keeping the premises looking their best.

And thanks to the American Association of University Women for the improvement they have made in the appearance of their car park and service entrance.

With warmer weather approaching, perhaps the Elise Apartments on New Hampshire between H and I will do something about their incinerator, which showers soot and ash on all their neighbors and makes outdoor living a miserable experience. Let's be good neighbors.

THE NATIONAL COLLECTION OF FINE ARTS

"The Thief of Souls," by portraitist Romaine Brooks, drew us to the National Collection of Fine Arts and unexpected delights in the north wing of contemporary art.

Handsome interiors, fine lighting, uncrowded walls, and a wonderful change of pace in the staging of paintings, prints, and sculpture combined to envelop us in a sustained experience of pleasure. Words are inadequate. This fine old Greek-revival edifice three blocks northwest of the National Gallery has many surprises.

For me, the line drawing fantasies taken from her 1930 diaries stole the Romaine Brooks show, but it was all "great"--continues through March.
